The time is short! The guardian menhir that has been protecting your town since the ancient days is about to go dark. Rumour has it that there's a secret druidic ritual that may help you rekindle the menhirs. You must explore the locations surrounding Cuanacht to find it!

QUEST

- ☞ Earn a "Menhir Rites" Secret card. To do so, you will have to Explore the Locations surrounding Cuanacht (10).
- Success: as soon as you have "Menhir Rites", resolve the Chapter 1 Part 5 card from the Event Deck and discard the "Ancient Knowledge" Event card. Remember not to change the structure of the rest of the deck.
- Hint: if this is your first game, try to return to Cuanacht at the end of this day and spend a night there to read the Dream, as Dreams often contain hints.

ANCIENT KNOWLEDGE 1 1

Place this card on top of the Active Quest pile.

The island opens up before you with its countless trails and possibilities. As you walk on, you realize it's been a long time since you wandered this far from home. What should you do now?

Place 1 Random Event on top of the Event Deck. One Character gains Secret card 24.

Complete one of the following:

- ☞ Reach Kamelot (90) in the East and obtain help from its ruler.
- ☞ Explore the island and find a different way to progress in the story.

NOTE SHALL PASS

Place this card on the Active Quest pile.

Orrin's rejection is disappointing but understandable. Human ventures into Tuathan have already done more harm than good. Why would he think yours will be any different? To help him change his mind, you need to do something good for the realm.

Complete one of the following:

- Help restore the Round Table and gain the "Crest of the Order" Secret card.
- Gain the "Hand of the People" Secret card by causing the downfall of the Round Table.
- Find another way to enter Tuathan.

Success: as soon as you gain Secret card 19 or 51, go to Verse 490 in the Book of Secrets.

Put the Special Event B on top of the Event Deck. Then, place 8 (-1 per player) Random Events on top of the Event Deck.

8 2

ECHOS OF THE AGES

Another day passes. Your eyes hurt from the ever-shifting wyrdness, and you can barely remember your own name.

After a few hours of travel, you notice a group of four people walking upside down through one of the wyrdstone filaments, in a direction directly opposite to yours: a bandaged knight, a girl with a wolf and two other figures. You try to call them, but your voice is drowned by the noise.

Knowing that other humans have managed to reach these depths of madness gives you hope.

Each Character gains 1 Exp. Put the Special Event D on top of the Event Deck, then place 2 Random Events on top of it.

4B 2

THE NIGHT OF THE DAGGERS

Place this card on the Active Quest pile.

You're nearly done! Now, all three rulers and their retinues need some time to reach the meeting grounds.

Additional setup: place a Dial and a Time Token on this card and set the Dial to 2. Reduce the Dial at each Start of the Day. When it reaches 0, remove the Halfway Location card (152) from the game and replace it with Halfway Meeting (158). If Location 152 had an active Menhir, transfer it to Location 158.

QUEST

Go to Halfway Meeting (158) when it becomes available, conclude negotiations on behalf of your ally – or switch allies!

Hint: a cold-blooded betrayal may end the conflict faster, but it will not be forgotten...

Now, place Chapter 4B: Part 3 card on top of the Event deck.

5 1

THE HUNT CATCHES ON

You have managed to elude the attention of the higher powers for a surprisingly long time. But now, you are too close to the Grail to remain unnoticed.

Each Character gains 2 Exp.

Gain all remaining parts of the "Something is Watching" status, but do not resolve Special Event C. Instead, go to Verse 13 in the Book of Secrets.

Then, find and resolve the Chapter 5: Part 2 card.

10 2

MAW OF THE EARTH

Place this card on the Active Quest pile.

You have the tools and Orrin claims to have the knowledge. But you still need a suitable material to work with. Druids who tended to menhirs used a particular light-grey Wyrdstone that was mined west of Farshire.

QUEST

Gain the "Pristine Wyrdstone" Secret card (14) and bring it to Orrin.

Hint: you may earn this Secret by searching the mines under the Devastation (139). If you have the "Reclamation" status, place the Chapter 10: Part 3 card on top of the Event deck.

6 2

A NIGHT BATTLE

It is still the blackest night when you are roused from your sleep by the distant sound of combat. The noise of steel grinding against steel resembles that of two metal giants trying to rip each other to pieces. But what really makes your skin crawl is the lack of accompanying battle cries – or any voices at all for that matter.

In the morning, you carefully investigate the site. All the signs point to a battle of tremendous proportions: trees uprooted, great rocks hewn in two. One set of tracks belongs to your Fore-dweller hunter, the other to someone almost his size. If you read them correctly, the Fore-dweller hunter limped away, bleeding and broken. The victor carried on in the direction of Tuathan.

If the Fore-Dweller model is present in any revealed Location, place it next to the playing area, along with a Time Dial. Set the Time Dial to 2. Once it runs out, place the Fore-dweller on the lowest numbered revealed Location.

Put the Special Event B on top of the Event Deck. Then, place 8 (-1 per player) Random Events on top of the Event Deck.

BIZZARE METHODS

Toss a Dial.
Skull: lose 1 Rep.
Grail: nothing happens.

BROKEN CUANACHT

⇒ If you have part 1 of the "Left Behind" status, Verse 9. Otherwise, read on:

After such a long journey, the sight of home should bring you relief. Instead, it only causes heartbreak. Even from afar, you realize fate was not kind to Cuanacht or its residents. The land has buckled and split open. Many places and houses you remember since childhood are gone. The Guardian menhir hangs precariously on the edge of the chasm.

After several waves of migrations and the slaughter of the Halfway Meeting, just a couple of dozen people are left here. As you approach, you meet their tired, sad gazes. "I see you received our message," one of them says. "Are you finally here to help us?"

TIMBERWALL

With its back resting against the safety of an impassable Fore-dweller fortification, Timberwall climbs so high it's visible from miles away. The people of this city are just like the city itself: opportunistic, proud, clinging to any advantage they can wrestle in this brutal world.

FALFUAR

Thick smoke swirls between low, wooden houses. The western part of the settlement is covered by the swirling mist and you can hear strange noises coming from there. Even with the protection of the menhir, this place isn't completely safe.

There's a deep gully leading east towards another village. It was used to move the menhir between this settlement and Bundorca since ancient times.

⇒ If you don't have any parts of the "Diplomatic Mission" status - Verse 1.

⇒ Otherwise: Verse 1.

You are submerged in a hundred-year dream, black and sticky like hot tar, when a strong pull manages to wrestle you back to reality. Something approaches! Not one of these ordinary, short-lived humans that buzz around the plateau, preoccupied with their matters of no importance.

No, this one is different. An elder, radiant soul. An exile on the border of two realities. A pilgrim who has been here many times, but who yet looks at everything with fresh new eyes.

WYRDEDGE

Not long ago, this old crannog sat on top of a miry lake. Now, the wyrdness coils above and below the wooden structure, and its bridge has become the last strand of reality anchoring it to the human world.

You know of only one person who could have carved out a living in pure wyrdness – Orrin, the last sorcerer of the island and the heir to Merlin's knowledge.

⇒ If you have the "Winds of Wyrdness" status,  Verse 3.

⇒ Otherwise:

 ACTIVATE A MENHIR

Requires all Characters and the Menhir Rites Secret card.

ORRIN'S RESOLVE

Out of the chaotic, filigree structures of Tuathan, a solitary building raises itself on four crooked legs. Its walls of rough stone look distinctly out of place. Arrow-slits instead of windows and a narrow entry seem to indicate its defensive purpose. It was obviously built by humans, but the platform the abode rests on, and the four pillars that support it, are made of pure thought-bent wyrdstone. How was that possible?

As you approach the foot of the structure, the oppressive feeling that has accompanied you all through Tuathan grows weaker. Somehow, wyrdness seems to avoid this place.

TUATHAN

As long as this side of the card is revealed:

If you have (or gain) the "You Are Going Insane!" card, you figure out the mystery of life. Lose all  and lose all .

If you have (or gain) the "You Are Dying!" card, your body enters a mysterious stasis. Restore all  and lose all .

 SEARCH TUATHAN:
Go to Verse I, Location 199.

 PROGRESS THROUGH TUATHAN

If there are two Tuathan Location cards (199) on the table, go to Book of Secrets:

⇒ If you're playing Chapter 9 – Verse 40

If there are five Tuathan Location cards (199) on the table, go to Book of Secrets:

⇒ If you're playing Chapter 8 – Verse 55

⇒ If you're playing Chapter 9 – Verse 666

Otherwise (if there are 1, 3, or 4 Tuathan cards), attach a new random Tuathan Location card and move your Characters there.

THE LAST KNIGHT HELP CARD

Four-hundred years have passed since the One and True King disappeared.

In normal circumstances, much would have happened in such a time – but no one can call these cold, dark centuries “normal.”

Before menhirs burned out entirely, forcing people to shelter in scarce, habitable areas, some places flourished in a moment of glory. There were heroes. There were kings and queens. All faded in the memory of the living as the long-lasting autumn shifted into never-ending winter.

Now, snow and ice covers all. Even wyrdness is a pale shade of itself, weaker than before, as if the cold stifled this force of pure change. Though the attempt by the Fore-dwellers failed to reconquer their land, the millennia-long story of humans on Avalon comes to an end as something interferes with the fragile balance of their world.

GLIMMERING FOREST

The hunters from Mangrove Huddle often visit Glimmering Forest – it's full of game, and its leafless trees provide ample light and shelter. Roots emerge from earth and ice, making it difficult to navigate. If you follow animal tracks, you'll always find an easy path.

KILLING GROUNDS

Even from afar, you see that something vile happened in this young forest, its trees bending toward one another like whispering hags. Each step closer reveals more gruesome details. Between the tops of the trees, scores of Avalonian prisoners hang, the tension of the trunks slowly ripping the arms from their torsos. Drunken soldiers overseeing this atrocity cheer with each drop of black blood draining into the spongy moss.

SURVEYOR'S BASECAMP

The earth split itself open here, its layers rising like the edges of a steel plate pierced by a cannonball, revealing centuries of geological history. Each cliff has a unique shape. This one resembles an old, hunched man; that one, an infernal maw, waiting to swallow you whole.

The small gathering of tents at the foot of the cliffs seems tiny and insignificant by comparison. Yet, your heart races as soon as you notice the camp. Meeting other people in such a remote part of the island is comforting.

GREAT DOLMEN

A gray gate rises above the horizon, leading from nothing to nothing. In ages past, some unknown force planted two stones, each higher than the towers of legendary Camelot, and left a third stone precariously balancing across their tops. Tall, wooden walls obscure the area beneath the dolmen.

You'd like to take a closer look, but giant sentries roaming the plains are enough to curb your enthusiasm.

The citizens of Cuanacht welcome you warmly. They are always willing to help, as long as you don't abuse their hospitality. If Special Event P is revealed,  Verse 1.

WALLED-OFF MANSIONS

The wealthy owners of these gardened mansions used all resources at hand to protect themselves - and their families - from the plague. Tall barricades, walled-off alleys and sealed entrances turned this place into a checkerboard of tall, impassable walls. The high townhouses of the Merchant District loom to the west, far beyond this maddening labyrinth. Something punched through several mansion walls in this direction, creating a long tunnel.

The checkerboard of garden mansions and villas is now significantly easier to navigate, owing to a network of planks, bridges and boardwalks you built on their walls.

UNSPOILED HEIGHTS

The air is cool and fresh up here. It's a pleasant change from the damp and earthy smell of the lower lands. The city is certainly more human than the settlement below - the buildings are more natural, forming short brochs or stone cabins. There are no dying and bleeding animals or people, and the Picts... You notice that almost no one here has these strange growths at the back of their necks, and the only weapons they carry are small daggers with serrated blades.
